Nursery & Reception On the Beach Take One Picture Project

As part of our 'Take One Picture' Art week, we had the exciting opportunity to have a private workshop with the National Gallery in London. Fiona, a Gallery Educator, showed us photos that helped us to understand where the gallery is located and what it looks like inside. She then took us on a virtual walk through the museum. As part of the tour, Fiona focused our attention on an individual painting and brought it to life through interactive storytelling.

Following our gallery tour, we've spent time slowly revealing and exploring Claude-Joseph Vernet's 'A Shipwreck in Stormy Seas'. This has linked beautifully to our current learning topic 'On the beach' and our recent exploration of Shakespeare's 'The Tempest' which has resulted in the children being able to articulate some lovely responses to the painting.

I know a storm is coming because of the big, black clouds. Isla

The boat is falling down because of the waves. Like a brick. Alma

Over the week, we are going to learn about printing and will experiment with making waves sculptures. The children will also investigate colour mixing and learn about the colour wheel before picking out appropriate colours to represent a storm.

My favourite part is the boat. It looks like it will crash into the rocks.

The waves are coming. I think the people are in danger.

Take One Picture Project

This week the children took part in a range of creative activities as part of our school Arts week. We looked at the painting 'A Shipwreck on Stormy Seas' by Claude-Joseph Vernet. To begin with the children looked closely at the painting and talked about what they liked and disliked about it. They then listened to some selected pieces of classical, instrumental music and decided which music would fit best with the painting and it's subject. Following this they explored a range of percussion instruments and grouped them into different parts of the storm e.g rain, clouds and the sea. They played music to accompany a small group who acted out a story to bring the painting to life, thinking carefully about the scene before and after the storm. The children created their own scenery using the technique of Batik (a wax resist technique,) to capture the movements of the sea during the storm. They finally tied all the elements together producing a short, musical performance of their interpretation of Vernet's 'A Shipwreck on Stormy Seas'.

Take One Picture Project

We will be submitting information about the children's Take One Picture project learning to the National Gallery at the beginning of the Autumn Term, so that staff at the gallery can see how Vernet's painting has inspired the children and helped them to develop their textiles skills.

GALLERY

This week the children have been enjoying lots of extra art as it is art week. They had an online tour of the National Gallery with our own guide, Bethan, who led a great session and knowledgeably answered the children's questions. She introduced the class to a painting by Claude Vernet called 'A Shipwreck in Stormy Seas.'

The children have been using this painting as their inspiration for a number of activities in class, including poetry and suspense writing.

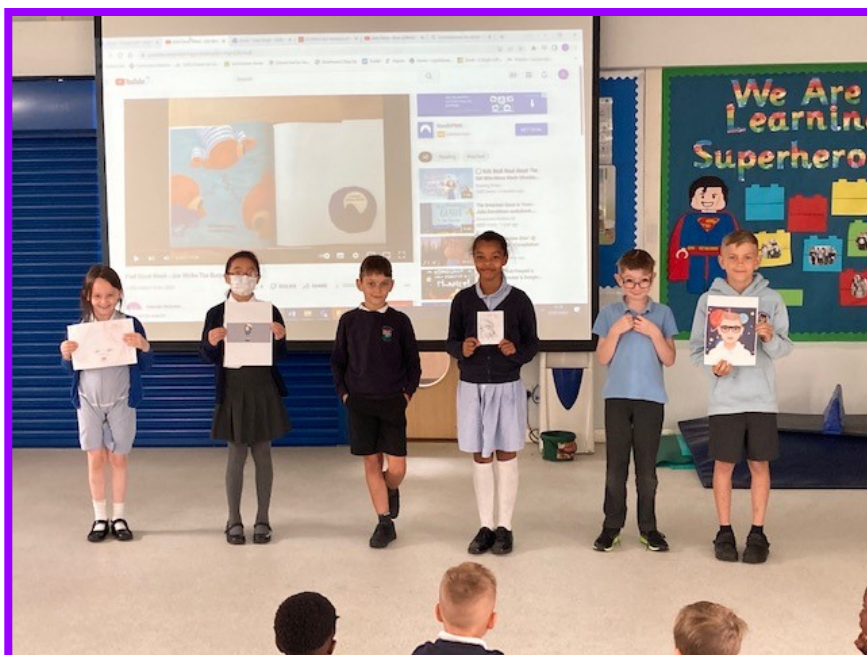

They created colour wheels and learned about primary, secondary and tertiary colours. They learned about contrasting colours and will use these later in the week when they work on our art project - 3-dimensional fish.

Staying Safe Online

Miss Singh and our Online Safety Ambassadors led an assembly on Thursday reminding our children about the rules to keep safe online. They announced the winners of our design and avatar competition. Congratulations to

A vibrant graphic for a bingo event. It features several colorful bingo balls with numbers 3, 9, 7, and 5. Two bingo cards are visible, one with the word 'BINGO' at the top. The word 'BINGO' is written in large, glowing, yellow-outlined letters. Below it, the word 'Afternoon!' is written in a red, stylized font. A teal banner with the text 'YOU ARE INVITED' is centered. Below the banner, the event details are listed in white text: 'MONDAY 11TH JULY AT 3.15PM', 'LIGHTHORNE HEATH PRIMARY SCHOOL', '5 GAMES, WITH AN INTERVAL', and '£1 PER BOOK'. At the bottom, a line of text states 'CHILDREN MUST BE ACCOMPANIED BY A PARENT / CARER'.

Nursery and Reception

Mrs Hartley's and Mrs Manley's Nursery and Reception class hero this week is Ben because he produced an excellent wave sculpture. Ben listened carefully to the instructions and enjoyed making his own. He said, 'the waves are getting bigger until there is an enormous one!'

Have a go

Tips For Wellness:

Friendship

Friendship means to have trust and support with other people. As we approach the summer holidays and move on to a new school year group you may want to let your friends know how much they mean to you and that you support them.

Activities to try:

1. Tell one of your friends why you trust them and why you like being friends.
2. Schedule time in your week to check in on your important friends. This is a very good way to keep connected and make sure you and your friends stay connected when life gets busy.
3. If you want to make friends take a look at this link - <https://www.childline.org.uk/info-advice/friends-relationships-sex/friends/top-tips-making-friends/>
